Educator Retires To School

A retired educator who went to Rome to assist in the formation of a new school, is home in Andover for a few months.

Emory S. Basford, who was on the faculty of Phillips Academy for 35 years and for many years chairman of the English department there, is at his 31 Holt Road home until the first of the year. Mr. Basford left Andover in 1964 following his retirement and joined Rev. John Patterson who was then at Kent School in Connecticut, to found St. Stephen's School in Rome.

The school is designed to provide an education for American youngsters abroad who intend to go on to colleges and universities in America.

Those attending the school are sons or daughters of members of the diplomatic corps, servicemen, or industrial leaders from America, who will return here eventually.

The idea of the school was Father Patterson's, an Anglican priest.

Mr. Basford had talked with the clergyman, who in turn asked him to join him in founding the school.

The school had a difficult initiation.

A Rome industrialist had promised substantial financial support.

A Declaration by the Representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in General Congress assembled.

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness; that to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles & organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety & Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light & transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn that mankind are more disposed to suffer while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses & usurpations, begun at a distinguished period, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them to absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, & to provide new Guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; & such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct or indirect object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world, [for the truth of which we pledge a faith not unswerving by falsehood]

A PRECIOUS DOCUMENT. Writing is a talent. It has meaning, sometimes for good, sometimes for bad. Above is a rough draft of the Declaration of Independence, penned by Thomas Jefferson. We live in dangerous times. The men who finally signed the final document thought enough of the preamble and its contents to affix their signature to the Declaration and pronounce ourselves as a free country. The draft exemplifies what those men felt in 1776. We wonder, "in the course of human events" today what would be their feelings.

the Internal Revenue Service Center on Lowell Street were revealed in detail to the immediate neighbors at a meeting Monday night.

Forty residents of Lovejoy Road and Lowell Street were welcomed to the Center by Director Norman E. Morrill who told them the Government agencies involved wanted to tell the immediate neighbors of the construction plans before the work was started.

Mr. Morrill introduced Paul F. Healy, regional director, public building services of the General Services Administration, who advised the group that the IRS building addition will consist of two wings, one on the Lovejoy Road side and the other on the opposite side of the building near Route 93. The addition will provide 91,000 square feet of needed working space.

He said the two wings will extend 112 feet with a 30 foot buffer strip. The edge of the building to the Lovejoy Road lot line will be 75 feet.

He announced IRS has acquired six acres of land in the rear of (Continued on Page Three)

Summer School Has Innovations

The Andover Summer school, secondary level opened with a final registration of 215 in 21 classes this week.

The program is basically a remedial program with courses in the following areas: remedial reading, English 7-8, English 10-12, French I, Spanish I, algebra I, geometry, developmental reading, English 9, math 7, pre-algebra, algebra I, and algebra II.

There are a few courses not of a strictly remedial area but rather of a personal interest or enrichment area: personal typing, driver education, tennis lessons, driver training, and summer theater workshop.

The principal of the summer school, James A. Murphy, was forced at an earlier date to cancel other enrichment courses such as creative writing, great books reading program, introduction to psychology and automobiles due to insufficient student interest.

Strangely enough, a course in speedwriting had many applicants but had to be cancelled due to the inavailability of a competent instructor.

According to the principal there are three basic differences in the course curriculum of this year as compared to other years. The fact that tennis lessons offered from 8:45 to 10:15 daily had an adequate enrollment, points out a possible need for other physical education units to be investigated for other summer school sessions of the future.

This year the high school library is being kept open from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. for students to browse or for teachers to make use of the library for their classes, or for parents to leave their children off at the school at an earlier time or pick them up at a later time so that the students in question can use the library for waiting and browsing.

port, but withdrew after Fr. Patterson and Mr. Basford arrived in Italy.

The two went forward with plans and this year produced the first graduating class.

Mr. Basford describes his experience as "completely rewarding."

"It has been one of the most interesting experiences of my life," he said.

There are now 150 students from 40 different countries attending the school. Most are from the Rome area.

Mr. Basford will be in Andover until about the first of the year.

During his few months back in the United States, he will be seeking to raise funds for the school.

The school buildings are part of an Italian Villa built 40 years ago, but abandoned for 20 years prior to its occupancy as an educational institution.

SUMMER SCHOOL

added to the summer school curriculum is the inclusion of evening courses and activities for those older students who wish to continue studies but whose job commitments make day courses impossible for them. Another year of summer school might find more of the remedial courses for older students included in the evening division.

Members of the faculty include-- business subjects: Miss Agnes Dugan; driver education subjects: Patsy Cambria and Robert Carroll; reading subjects: Miss Mary LaCouture; English subjects: James Hartman and Mrs. Hattie Hannigen; languages: Peter Prince and Miss Carolyn Warmington; mathematics: Robert McIntyre, Robert Doyle, V. Douglas Walshe, Miss Rachael Paquin; summer theater workshop: Mrs. Nancy Hendrick; summer school secretary: Elizabeth McSurdy.

The dates of Summer school are June 30 - Aug. 8 with no class on July 4. Period A begins at 8:45 and ends at 10:15. Period B begins at 10:30 and ends at 12 noon. The summer school office is open from 8 a.m. to 12:30 daily. Superintendents Pay Tribute To Erickson

Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson, who will retire from his post next month, was honored by his fellow administrators recently.

The Merrimack Valley Superintendents Association, presented him with a Captain's chair with the seal of his alma mater, Bates college.

Honored at the same meeting was Vincent McCartin, who is retiring as superintendent in Lowell. He received a chair with the seal of his college, Holy Cross.

The presentation was made at a luncheon meeting held at the Thompson Club in North Reading.

Both men are former presidents of the organization.

the building which will be cleared for an additional parking lot.

The parking lot will also have a 30-foot buffer strip on the Kimberly Road end of the lot. In response to questions, Mr. Healy said the GSA does not have any plans to use Kimberly Road as an exit or entrance. He explained that the cost of developing a roadway there would be prohibitive anyway.

During the meeting residents were invited to ask questions and several made comments about the building plans. When concern was expressed for trees that are to be removed Mr. Healy said the GSA plans call for planting of a screen of Maple trees in the rear of the parking lot so residents will see only the tops of trees rather than a parking lot.

He told the neighbors that "whatever we do, we hope to do it with the least amount of disturbance." He said the general plan is to avoid an industrial complex appearance.

He said the Franchi Brothers of Wellesley have been awarded the contract and will start excavation within 30 days.

The neighbors after hearing of the construction plans expressed complaints which both the IRS and GSA offered to correct if possible. One concerned the smoke emanating from the chimney. GSA Engineer Gilbert Strobel said the oil being purchased was the best available and at the suggestion of some neighbors promised an effort would be made to increase the efficiency of the boilers and study the possibility of raising the stacks.

William A. Toye, chief, building management division, GSA promised neighbors we would check complaints that parking lot lights were left on after the parking lot had been cleared. He said consideration would be given the suggestion that hoods be placed on the lights to prevent excessive glare on Lovejoy Road dwellings.

Following the meeting the neighbors were shown a colored film of the Service Center activities and taken on a tour of the building including a visit to the computer room and other vital sections of the Center.

The thunder makes a lot of noise, but it's the lightning that does the business.

At The Library

At Convention

Ron Hubbs, assistant director of Memorial Hall Library, was in Atlantic City last week participating in the annual meeting of the American Library Association.

Summer Reading

Books on the summer reading lists for the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades of the high school are available at the library. Books for all grades have been shelved in a special section. They may be taken out, one to a student, for a one week loan.

Vacation Loan

Did you realize adults may take out books for the vacation period on a three-month summer loan? Any books in the regular collection, other than new books, may be signed out until Sept. 15. The library wishes all its patrons a happy summer of good reading, and encourages you to provide the entire family with reading material whether you go to the seashore, the mountains, or remain in Andover!

Vacation Club

Don't forget the Vacation Reading Club for the young members of the family. The children may sign up in the children's room to take part in the reading contest (from June 30-Aug. 6). Children choose the ten books they wish to read, attend club meetings on one day a week, during the summer, and try to help their team to come out on top as super-readers!

We used to look at the moon with romantic or poetic thoughts uppermost. Now we just check to see if it is still there.

A property brief is not to be confused with general advertising. It is a story of the property and its environment. It may contain photographs of the property and its landscaping, taken from several angles. It will probably contain a floor plan. The plan will show room sizes and location of closets.

A lot plan will show buildings, driveways, tree and shrubs. There will be information regarding special features of the property. This may contain information about special heating, plumbing, and roofing features. The brief will contain financial data regarding the property.

Family Cookouts Planned

Rev. Matthias Pastore, OFM, director of the Christian Formation Center, has announced that the first Family Cook-out will be held on Wednesday, July 9. Bar-B-Quechicken at a reasonable price will be served on the patio around the dining room from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The patio has recently been furnished beautifully for these cookouts which are planned for each Wednesday evening throughout the summer. A different dinner will be served each week. The adjoining lawns afford the small fry room to romp, assuring the entire family of a most enjoyable evening out on a warm summer night. These family affairs are in keeping with the theme and purpose of the Christian Formation Center in serving the residents of the Merrimack Valley.

Chairman of the committee which finalized plans for the occasion is Rev. Lucius Annesse, OFM. Members of the committee include Mr. and Mrs. Edward Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Francis McNulty, Mr. and Mrs. John Tighe, Mr. and Mrs. John Conlon, Mr. and Mrs. Barry Lloyd, Mrs. Edna Flanagan, Miss Ann Casey, and Miss Marilyn McKenzie.

Fr. Matthias advises that reservations are not necessary to attend, but it would be helpful to the staff. Those wishing to make reservations may do so by calling the Center at 851-6711 or 686-3941.

Fatally Injured In 'Chute Fall

An Andover man was fatally injured Wednesday, June 25, in a parachute accident in Colorado. Thomas W. Hafer, 24, 38 Central St., was killed when gusty winds took him 30 to 40 feet off course while attempting to ride his 'chute to the ground on the campus of the University of Colorado.

Authorities said Hafer suffered fatal chest injuries in the fall. Deputy Coroner William Howe said in Boulder that two friends were holding ropes attached to a parachute which Hafer was trying to ride along the ground. A wind gust picked the chute up and then subsided, causing the fatal plunge.

Hafer was dead on arrival at Community Hospital.

Winds in the Boulder area at the time of the accident were clocked up to 110 miles per hour by the National Center for Atmospheric Research west of the city. They were not that high when the Andover man was killed, officials said.

One of the men holding the ropes attached to Hafer's parachute was identified at Fred Solheim, 25, of Boulder, a parachute instructor for a young co-ed who plunged to her death in a parachute jump from a plane earlier this year.

The Andover man was an accomplished sailor and previously had served as an instructor in sailing on the Connecticut shore. He also had participated in competitive sailing meets in Peru and Italy.

He is survived by his father and his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Wolcott of Westport, Conn., a sister, Miss Susan Hafer of San Francisco, Calif. and a brother, Robert Hafer of Andover.

Coach Recovering

Richard Collins, Andover High football coach is a surgical patient at the Phillips House, Mass. General Hospital. Mr. Collins is doing excellently and making a rapid recovery. It is expected he will return home in a week to ten days. If anyone would wish to send him a card he is in room 844.

Among primitive peoples the medicine man was regarded as an awesome figure who could produce magical cures for sickness through the use of strange charms and fetiches.

But modern man is not satisfied with mumbo-jumbo. He wouldn't attempt to treat abdominal pains by placing guinea pigs' intestines on his stomach, or to "cure" a sore throat by wrapping a boa constrictor around his neck.

He knows that good health depends upon greater medical knowledge and improved medicines. Thanks to the teamwork of your physician, the pharmaceutical research scientist, and your pharmacist, the medicine man and his potions will never be missed.

Little League

American League

In the once postponed playoff game the Twins broke into an early lead and held on to beat the Red Sox 8 to 6. As in the game the prior week the opposing pitchers were Keith Verrette of the Twins and Steve Ketzler ace of the Red Sox.

Verrette scattered seven hits and chalked up nine strikeouts. Both pitchers started defensively. Keith handling several bunts well, while Steve gathered in a couple of hard hit grounders.

For the champion Twins, Mark Hewitt had three hits, including a double; Rhett Stedman had two hits, one a triple and scored on hustle on the next play. Craig Eosefow picked up two RBI's with a double. On defense, Glen Verrette at shortstop and Rhett Stedman at second were sensational.

For the runner-up Red Sox Duncan Black had a single; Steve Wilkins stroked a solid double to go with a single.

A fine game, well played and well attended. The Red Sox players all congratulated the Twins in an example of sportsmanship that is indicative of their coaching.

Congratulations were extended to Charlie Conlon and his Twins and best luck and well done to Frank Monette and his Red Sox.

Footnote:

The American League's forty-six game season just concluded could not have been played without the men in blue. The 90 boys and their coaches, some of whom were on occasion somewhat skeptical of an infrequent umpire judgment during the pennant race, have joined in a tribute to Harry Collins and his crew, Mickey Walker, Norm Dion, John Eosefow, Tom Lawler, Bob Sheinefin, and Doug Hillman.

And the league thanks its unsung heroes, the groundskeepers, batboys, scorekeepers, chauffeurs, and our official historian, Dave Wilcox.

An Extravagance

We view with alarm the erection of new directional signs on Route 495.

In this period when the state is faced with increasing costs, financial crisis and the taxpayers with ever-increasing burdens, one might suppose that the state, or federal government would take into consideration some economies.

We might suppose that the erection of directional signs along superhighways do not amount to a tremendous financial burden in examining the overall picture.

But the old story of pennies saved amount to dollars means something to those who have to dole out the dollars annually.

Within recent months we have noticed along Route 495 the erection and placement of new signs indicating the next exit for various routes, towns or cities.

The highway has not been opened that long.

One might presuppose the argument that the highway was not complete to its terminus at Salisbury. Why then did state authorities not contemplate this in advance and have the permanent signs erected, with advisories as to the temporary end when the various sections were opened over a period of time?

The signs, we feel are costly?

During the past few months, several have been replaced, not just the sign itself, but the posts which support it. With the placement of the new sign, additional costs were necessitated by the removal of the old sign and posts.

This is indeed absurd.

Some of the directions given the traveller, particularly those unfamiliar with the area, are not only extravagant, but misleading.

We noticed coming north on 495, for instance an exit direction sending the unfamiliar motorist to Haverhill and Bradford off Route 110.

Certainly the traveller would find Haverhill quickly, but he would be moving through heavy city traffic to reach Bradford, when actually his best cut-off would be Route 125 several miles north, but only a few minutes longer.

Is this cost a picayune matter?

We think not.

We spend millions on our highways, in state and federal income, gasoline, excise and sales taxes.

We need an eye on economy, if we are to survive the costs of today's living.

Let us do away with extravagance and do things right in the beginning, or if changes are to be made, let them be done in moderation.

We can't afford the added costs.

No Observance

In Andover, observance of the Fourth of July - Independence Day - goes virtually unnoticed.

In surrounding communities, the day is observed either by municipal support, or through service, civic or fraternal organizations.

We think some attention should be given the matter, either by municipal officials or some of the community groups.

There is great desire on the part of many to remain at home and observe the holiday locally, rather than risk the hazards of holiday travel on the highway.

In the neighboring town of North Andover, town meeting annually provides for the holiday which starts out with a chicken barbecue the night before, at which over 600 persons have been fed in past years. This is followed by entertainment for young and old and on the day of the Fourth, a parade winds its way into the historic center for further recognizing the patriotic holiday.

We are aware of hundreds of Andover residents who attend the festivities.

Other surrounding communities also have some sort of activity for the particular occasion. Offhand, the towns of Methuen and Chelmsford, the city of Lawrence, all have scheduled events for the holiday.

We think it about time for Andover to start thinking seriously about providing some sort of activity for the holiday.

Being safe in the confines of your own home town, is indeed far better than risking injury and life itself on the highways these holiday weekends.

Nice Gesture

The decision of the Internal Revenue Service to invite immediate neighbors to the Lowell street facility to hear first-hand additional construction plans before the start of work was a nice gesture.

The IRS is traditionally looked upon as being a hard-hearted organization, but basically, like all of us they have a job to perform, and must follow the letter of the law.

In this instance, the officials of the government agency, took the time to explain to their neighbors what was about to happen as far as new construction is concerned, prior to the bulldozers moving in.

In many cases the neighbors are forgotten and government agencies simply move in, and start ripping up property abutting residential neighborhoods.

In this case, IRS and the General Services Administration did not let this happen.

Residents in the immediate vicinity of any planned government or industrial construction, have a justifiable concern for their property. Being advised in advance of construction plans, is not only good communications, but lessens the possibility of grievances and misunderstanding which obviously the IRS and GSA realize.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Persons travelling along Chestnut street, had best be on guard as they approach the Bartlet street intersection.

Despite stop signs prominently displayed on the Bartlet street sides of the intersection, motorists quite often pay no heed to the order and proceed without even looking.

The same condition exists at Whittier street, but not as bad as at the Bartlet street crossing.

We have noticed the practice increasing within recent weeks--that of inattentive motorists challenging the Chestnut street traveller's right-of-way.

A few tips on watering lawns during these hot and humid days from the Essex County Agricultural Technical Institute. Best time for watering with a sprinkler is early morning or late evening, so that the sun at the heat of the day does not absorb the moisture.

Best to give the lawn a soaking of about an inch, in order to prevent the roots from turning up. This can be determined by placing a coffee can or other type tin can within the sprinkler area and collecting water in it until an inch of water can be measured.

Watering with a hose and nozzle can be harmful to a lawn, according to school authorities.

Western Electric installers in 1968 worked in some 7,200 U. S. cities and towns on some 160,000 separate jobs and added 2.3 million dial lines to an ever-growing Bell System network.

Did you know that Uncle Sam, the legendary gentleman traditionally associated with our country, really did exist?

His name was Samuel Wilson and was born in Arlington in 1766. History has recorded Sam Wilson's exploits and the development of his caricature--the top hat, tail coat and striped pants.

The Jaycees in Arlington, are now working towards erecting a statue in that community to permanently memorialize the birthplace of the real Uncle Sam.

Time was when firecrackers resounded throughout the neighborhoods on the Fourth of July. They still do someplaces, although they are still illegal.

They were banned here because they were considered harmful, and persons were suffering bodily injury through accidental use.

The prohibition of fireworks by the general public seems to, however, have been replaced by more lethal elements, to wit, the automobile and the highways.

Drive safely this weekend.

Another hospital will be within Andover's reach within a couple of years, if plans progress as anticipated.

The charter was signed for the Wilmington Regional hospital last week, and architects are now working on plans for the construction of a 125-bed facility.

Basically the hospital is intended to serve the towns of Wilmington, Reading, North Reading, Tewksbury, Billerica and Burlington.

It is to be located on Lowell Street near West Street in Wilmington, near Route 93.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN Registrar of Motor Vehicles Richard E. McLaughlin and Public Safety Commissioner Leo L. Laughlin join with me in saluting your fine newspaper for the public service it performed in recent months with its publication of editorial materials on the State's new Fraudulent Claims Bureau.

Even as you read this letter of thanks, those flaunting our laws--and thereby forcing upwards the cost of automobile insurance--are being brought to justice. Evidence--some of it furnished by your readers--is being compiled by the Criminal Investigations Division of the Attorney-General's office and, in many cases, Grand Jury action will be taken to indict the guilty.

Through your newspaper's columns, your newspaper has been in the vanguard in the State's battle to keep fraudulent claims from further ballooning car insurance costs.

Already, with your help and that of your readers, this first anti-fraud bureau in the nation is moving swiftly to fulfill the role entrusted to it by the Legislature.

Success in this endeavor means one thing of true benefit to every motorist in Massachusetts--a real assault on a basic cause of high automobile insurance rates.

Admittedly, the problem of auto fraud is a huge one. However, with your help we have brought an added dimension--fear of detection--to the battle. This vital factor, coupled with vigorous enforcement, indicates our efforts will be successful. Our warmest thanks to you and to your readers.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

I read with interest the story of the Wm. Ballard Line on Shawshoan River. Being an old canoeist of the Andover Canoe Club, built and owned by Horace Hale Smith, sometime in the early 1900's. Mr. Smith was one of the engineers that built the Central Bridge in Lawrence. The club had a $15 membership entitling one to the use of a canoe for the season. It was the club that built and maintained the Pomp's Pond canal from the river. A Mr. Hitchcock did the work cutting thru the tall reeds and doing what dredging that was needed. This job cost each member of the club $5 and when it was finished the club members made good use of it.

Canoeing was a summer sport. Just before Henry Ford came out with his old touring car. It was a lot of fun to canoe and troll and catch a bass or a lot of pickerel. The Canoe club thrived for several years. Possibly Mr. Smith owned 50 canoes. He was a good sport and he built a flat decked boat that cruised up and down the river, not commercially, but for pleasure.

I think I can recall the Wm. Ballard coming down the river and there was a bend in the river between the railroad bridge and the mill dam. It seems to me the Wm. Ballard was equipped with a horn. This horn was to warn all on the river the Ballard was coming. The story was told when the horn sounded, the boat was grounded. All the power apparently was used by the horn and that's a fact. Anyway the river used to be fun canoeing to Ballardvale and then a carry to the "Vale" side and go as far as the water was good to the old Burt saw mill. That was the end - from there it was another carry. I never made this one, but many times Ben Myers and I paddled to the saw mill and had a good time always. Thought you'd like to get the Andover club's story. The river was a fun river in summer, for swimming at Partridge Island and the old cricket field. In winter everybody came to skate, and many a warm fire was enjoyed by the skater. So, times have changed and that's why I detest those who would take away this Andover that was so happy and so patriotic and so respectful of law and order. There were hard times but there were happy times and let us all hope that Andover will always be a happy place to live in. That old Biblical counsel seems appropriate, "let all brethren dwell together in unity."

For Delicious Hot Bread Try Tripoli Bakery

There isn't a meal in the world that can't be improved by the aroma and flavor of warm, crusty Italian bread, baked fresh every hour by Tripoli Bakery, 106 Common Street in Lawrence. The experienced bakers at Tripoli make all their own bread right on the premises, so there is hot bread for sale at all times and it is still made the old fashioned way, with no short cuts or substitutes for quality.

Tripoli Bakery is a family business, established in Lawrence in 1921. In order to meet the demands of its many customers, a new addition was built and the facility completely modernized in 1955, including a large parking lot, so there is never a parking problem.

In addition to their famous long Italian loaves in two sizes, Tripoli features the round Italian loaf and regular bread plus a tremendous variety of rolls such as submarine rolls; Italian hard crust rolls; soft crust rolls; hamburger submarine rolls; Italian hard crust rolls; soft crust rolls; hamburger, twisted lobster, dinner and finger rolls. You may stop in and pick up a dozen or two or for larger amounts for parties, etc. call and place your order. Rolls will be sliced for you if you wish.

Tripoli also carries a complete line of Italian and French cookies and pastries, all types of delicious doughnuts, layer cakes, cupcakes, turn-overs, pastry squares, muffins and a fine assortment of pies. They always have birthday cakes on hand, available in three different sizes and suitably decorated.

This fine bakery is equally famous for its pizza. Tripoli's Pizza Shop at the Lawrence store is closed for the summer, but will re-open after Labor Day, serving all types of oven-fresh pizza from 10 a.m. till 10 p.m. Tripoli's Pizza Stand at Salisbury Beach is open all year round and they invite you to stop by, particularly this summer when you are on vacation or at the beach for the day.

Get acquainted with Tripoli Bakery; your children are already familiar with their fine products, as Tripoli makes all the rolls and pizza for the Andover schools. They are open daily from 6 a.m. till 9 p.m. for your convenience.

Volunteer To Res Bandstand

A return to the bandstand in Memorial Park, thanks to the volunteer efforts, men accepted Monday.

Rep. Paul W. Cronin, before the selectmen and informed them of the assistance to be provided, following the bandstand's ruin.

Rep. Cronin, before the selectmen that the bandstand could accept a gift in the community, and it was agreed that the bandstand be repaired.

He said that the bandstand was in a state of disrepair and that the selectmen had agreed to accept a gift from the community to have it repaired. The bandstand is a historic landmark in Andover.

For the past several years, the bandstand has not been used.

It has been described as a relic of the past, having been built in 1910. The bandstand was damaged by a fire in 1968 and has since been in a state of disrepair.

For many years, the bandstand was popular in the town. It was used for many community events and was a focal point of the town's social life.

Restoration will be a bit of New England history, as Rep. Cronin said. The selectmen Monday night plans to begin work on the bandstand, which is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

A concert was held Tuesday night under the bandstand, and the music for the public was provided by the selectmen.

Several were in attendance, and it was assuredly a successful event. The bandstand is a historic landmark in Andover.

The neighbors have been very helpful in the restoration project, and the contractors have been given their assurance that the bandstand will be restored to its former glory.

Total cost of restoration is expected to be $6,000. It only needed a few thousand dollars to get the bandstand back on its feet.

of the board of selectmen, but it was unexpected that the gift to the town would be so timely.

Along the same lines, the town brought up a couple of other projects in the line of recreation and community improvement.

July and town's 325th anniversary. Selectman Robert suggested the board consider the bandstand project.
